

An Ethical Outlook of Civil Servant

Dr. Anita Paliwal*

---

Abstract:

The ethical considerations are integral to the effective functioning of public administration and the maintenance of public trust. It delves into key ethical dimensions, such as integrity, impartiality, accountability, transparency, and commitment to the public interest. It is significance part about to upholding the rule of law and the necessity for civil servants to exhibit professionalism and political neutrality. This section highlights the significance of ethical conduct in enhancing the credibility and efficiency of civil services. It underscores the impact of ethical decision-making on public perception and the overall well-being of society. The ethical perspective also explores the challenges and dilemmas faced by civil servants in maintaining ethical standards, particularly in the context of evolving socio-political landscapes. The conduct of the civil servant depends on the training programs, codes of conduct, and accountability mechanisms in promoting and sustaining ethical behavior among civil servants. This paper aims to contribute to the ongoing discourse on ethics in civil services, offering a nuanced perspective on the ethical responsibilities of civil servants and their crucial role in building a just, transparent, and accountable governance system.

Keywords: ethics, governance, civil servant, conduct, decision making, accountability.

INTRODUCTION:

An ethical outlook is fundamental to the role of a civil servant, shaping their conduct, decision-making, and overall contribution to society. The ethical dimension of civil service underscores the importance of integrity, accountability, and commitment to the public good. This ethical framework serves as a guiding principle, ensuring that civil servants act in the best interest of the citizens they serve and maintain public trust in government institutions. An ethical outlook is not merely a set of rules but a commitment to a higher standard of behavior that reflects the ideals of public service. It is a foundation upon which civil servants build trust, credibility, and a positive impact on the communities they serve.

---

*Lecturer, Department of Public Administration, Guru Nanak Girls Post Graduate College, Udaipur
Email: anitapaliwal2268@gmail.com